WHAT SETS
IPO
APART
FROM OTHER IP
ASSOCIATIONS?

As a worldwide trade association, our members include intellectual property owners in all industries and all fields of technology. This means that your clients—and prospective clients—are often members of IPO too. Where else can you collaborate directly with corporate in-house counsel on the most important issues in intellectual property rights?

Whether your IP practice has 100 attorneys or 1, IPO can help you achieve your firm's goals.

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT AND NETWORKING

IPO members—including chief IP officers and their staff—collaborate and network year-round through a variety of IPO programs. Hundreds of companies and law firms and more than 10,000 individuals worldwide are involved in IPO.

Firms join IPO to build their practice and then remain involved to maintain those connections. Join IPO and find out what you are missing.

COMMITTEES AND RESOURCE GROUPS

Develop relationships with fellow professionals—including corporate in-house counsel—and demonstrate proficiency in your practice areas. IPO has dozens of active committees working on the most important areas of IP law and practice, including:

- Patents, Trademarks, Copyrights, & Trade Secrets
- Corporate IP Management & Operations
- Litigation & Dispute Resolution
- International IP Law & Practice
- Women in IP
- Next Generation Leaders (New in 2020)

In addition to offering mentoring opportunities, we also have Resource Groups that support inclusion and diversity in the IP profession.

As an IPO law firm member, your team can work directly with our corporate members to publish reports and develop IPO's policies and positions on key issues. Committees are also a great way to provide your associates with leadership experience. Vice Chair positions are usually reserved for law firm members. Actively participating in IPO committees can also lead to additional opportunities and connections; speakers and presenters for our conferences and webinars are selected from IPO's membership.

MEETINGS

Want to continue the conversation in person? Join your colleagues at the IPO Annual Meeting and the IPOOwners Spring Summit™. Your IPO membership saves you and your staff hundreds of dollars off registration fees.
